Patients will undergo cardiological investigations into Institutes for Research and Health Care “Gruppo Iseni Sanità”, in Lonate Pozzolo-Malpensa, will be examined simultaneously for over fifteen cardiologists, from some of the leading hospitals and cardiac centers in Italy. On Friday (May 30) specialists are meeting near Malpensa to know and try “Synapse 3D”, the ultra-modern technology created by Fujifilm, the Japanese electronics giant, which allows you to examine your heart in three dimensions. A technology that has been recently introduced to Gruppo Iseni Sanità, the only one in Italy and in Europe to use it. In practice, the cardiologist performs an eco-cardio patient and thanks to the powerful software of Fuji’s heart is “materialized” on a big screen in three dimensions. The patient’s heart muscle, in giant size, floating in the air, in front of the watchful eyes of the doctor, who can rotate it, analyze it from every side and “get” into it and inside of coronary, to examine them better. This allows him to increase by 30 percent the chance to find even the smallest pathologies and abnormalities, preventing the development of cardiovascular diseases significantly that may be very dangerous or even lethal. A technology that ensures accurate analysis: italian cardiologists will experience on Friday.

“In this first step will host a dozen specialists from various Italian regions” explains Fabrizio Iseni, president of Iseni y Nervi Foundation and Honorary Consul of Ivory Coast. He supported the investment of about half million Euros for the implementation of Synapse in Lonate Pozzolo-Malpensa. “In collaboration with Fujifilm we started in Italy a path that will better address the pathology of many heart-sick, relieving suffering and initiating better therapies and more adequate. This, moreover, is the Foundation’s mission”.

What will happen on Friday? “Some patients with major cardiac diseases and difficult will undergo cardiology visits and high standing medical tests, with Synapse 3D: these activities will be followed by more than a dozen cardiologists” explains cardiologist Andrea Macchi general manager of the Clinical Centers of Iseni Group. The scientific team will be led by Dr. Andrea Macchi and Dr. Maria Cristina Pedrigi.
